Youngsters go wild

The school's planned wildlife area is about to become a reality.

'It will be an asset to be enjoyed and treasured by all the village,' said Crispian Huggill, chair of the school's environment area group.

'Along with the contractors, the children and their parents will take an active part in designing and building it.

'The wildlife area, both during construction and when it's finished, will play an important part in the curriculum. It will help pupils learn by observation and through regular maintenance.'

Following clearance work last month, the initial groundworks along Sopworth Road are to start early this month.

The outline plan for the scheme is on display in the covered notice board by the school bicycle shed.

The first phase involves replacing the chain link fence bordering the hedge and play area with a weldmesh panel fence of similar height nearer the edge of the road. A section of post and rail fence will continue the line up to the corner and crossroads on Knockdown Road.

During the second phase, a pond and boggy area will be excavated and the spoil will be used to make a raised seating area or outdoor classroom. There are also plans for a small section of dry stone wall along the outside of the new fence.

It is during the third phase that the wildlife area will be created.

There will be a pond with a dipping platform and bog planting and it will be made safe with fencing and a gate.

The plan also envisages a seating area, bird hide, African style mud hut and a nature trail leading through different zones with wild flowers and piles of old logs and rocks.

The scheme has been given the blessing of Sherston Parish Council and has received planning permission.

The Friends of Sherston School have provided the money to start the work but more is needed. The school and parents are exploring potential grant sources and local businesses will be approached.

All donations will be recorded on a roll of honour on a board in the school.

For further information, contact www.sherston.wilts.sch.uk or the school office on 840237.

Swap shop branches out

The Tolsey surgery swap shop is branching out into videos and DVDs.

'For several years, we've run a successful book swap,' said Dr Pip Pettit.

'The money donated goes to local health-based charities.'

Villagers are invited to donate, buy or swap books for 50p and now the practice is to add videos and DVDs to its stock.

'The same principles apply,' said Dr Pettit.

'And all the money collected will go towards an updated stairlift for the surgery.'

'Please feel free to pop in and browse and, if you've any other fundraising ideas, we'd be pleased to hear from you either through our practice manager or the Friends of Tolsey Surgery support group.'

The surgery number is 840830.

Keep well this winter

A new booklet aims to help the elderly keep well this winter.

Produced by Wiltshire County Council and called 'Winter well-being for older people', it covers heating, home insulation, eating and exercise among other topics. It also lists contacts for many essential services for the elderly. Copies of the booklet are available free from Sherston Post Office Stores.

Help nail the vandals

The police are appealing for help to catch the vandals who attacked Sherston last month.

On the night of January 12 to 13, they sprayed graffiti, some of it obscene, on the High Street bus shelter, the walls of three properties in the Tarters, three vehicles and the Scout hut.

The bus shelter had already been repaired following vandalism in the summer.

If you know who was responsible or have any information about the crimes, please ring the police on 0845 408 7000.

Copy deadline: 10th of the previous month.
Send to editorial@sherstoncliffhanger.co.uk or hard copy to Sherston Post Office Stores.

The size and content of the Cliffhanger depends entirely on the amount of copy we receive from individuals and groups. So, if you feel you have something of interest, please don't hesitate to tell us.

Top tip: if you're telling us of an event coming up, write a short piece about it rather than just supply basic details or a poster. You will then get a short article published to help boost interest as well as a mention in our What's On section. Don't forget to tell us how your event went, with a photo if possible.

Crime round-up

The police have struck a blow against drug-related crime in the Sherston area.

In their report for November and December last year, the Malmesbury rural area policing team announced they had arrested a woman in Malmesbury and seized a large quantity of what they believe to be heroin and cocaine.

'Whatever happens within Malmesbury will often have an impact on the villages surrounding,' said community beat manager PC Louis Bowden.

'This is a significant find for Malmesbury and will no doubt help disrupt the supply of class A drugs in the area.

'Drug addiction and habits need to be funded and, more often than not, this is done through the proceeds of crime.'

Other good news is that there is little reported anti-social behaviour in the villages. There is, however, an increase in farm machinery thefts in Wiltshire.

'Tractors and other machinery are often being stolen to order and, in some cases, then being shipped to other European countries,' said PC Bowden.

'This is obviously a concern for all farmers and agricultural workers as this is a direct threat to their livelihoods.

'I often see farm machinery, quad bikes and other plant left unsecured in farm outbuildings or on the land.

'This makes us a primary target for thieves, given the growing market for stolen machinery and the lengths taken to steal and move it on.'

Urging people to secure their property, PC Bowden added the force is considering regenerating the Farm Watch initiative.

Meanwhile, the following crimes occurred in November and December:

6 November at 10.18hrs Garden gates were lifted off their hinges and stolen from a property in Sherston. Original value £1,300.

16 November at 15.20hrs A report was received of criminal damage to a vehicle parked at The Tarters. The front windscreen and two side windows were smashed, possibly with a hammer. £800 damage incurred.

28 November at 16.51hrs A side gate in Strong's Close was jemmied and access gained to the house. Clothing was searched and £15 cash stolen. There were signs of interference with a rear window but the entry and exit route was not established.

1 December at 08.39hrs The lower panel of a garage door at Easton Grey was kicked and access gained. A search was made and property worth £300 was stolen.

PC Bowden said information from the public is vital in the fight against crime.

'People can feel confident that their information will be treated in confidence,' he added.

Police contact details: emergency telephone 999 for when a police officer needs to attend immediately because someone is acting suspiciously or about to commit a crime, non urgent telephone 0845 408 7000 for all other matters, email Malmesburyruralnpt@wiltshire.pnn.police.uk website www.wiltshire.police.uk and double click on Policing in Your Area.

Talking textiles

Malmesbury branch of the Embroiderers' Guild meets every month and holds workshops and talks on a wide range of textile-related topics.

The next talk, entitled Creating Narrative Textile Sculpture, is on 10 February at 7.30pm and is by Edwina Bridgeman.

'Edwina had a wonderful exhibition called Orchard last year in Brewery Arts in Cirencester,' said guild member Heather Martin.

The March workshop is on Saturday 21st and is Knitted Jewellery by Rozie Keogh.

Both talks and workshops are held in Little Somerford Village Hall. Visitors are welcome at the talks which cost £4.

For further details contact Steph Whateley on 822045 or Heather Martin on 840375.

Sherston Post Office news

Price of stamps to increase again but all is not lost

It was not the best Christmas present to learn that postage is set to rise on 6 April.

Second class stamps will increase from 27p to 30p and first class stamps will increase from 36p to 39p. Increases will be applied to all other levels of post.

However, any stamp bearing 1st, 2nd, Large 1st or Large 2nd bought ahead of the price increase can be used after 6 April at no extra cost. You therefore have ample time to build up a stock of stamps to mitigate the impact.

Banking through the Post Office

Paul and Gail Mather say the most common question they get asked at the post office is: 'Can I withdraw cash here?' followed by: 'Does it cost anything?' In the light of this they decided to clarify the situation.

An increasing number of banks have entered into a partnership with the Post Office to allow free withdrawals and deposits and for an account balance to be obtained as though it was an extra branch. These include Lloyds TSB, Barclays*, Cahoot* Co-op Bank, Smile, Alliance and Leicester, Clydesdale Bank, Bank of Ireland and most recently Nationwide Flex, Bank of Scotland and Halifax. The maximum amounts you can draw per day vary from bank to bank but all will allow you up to at least £250.

* Account balances not available for Barclays and Cahoot customers

 Deposits not yet available for Nationwide, Bank of Scotland and Halifax customers

Cash can be withdrawn from banks not mentioned above (e.g. Nat West, HSBC and Abbey) only if you have one of their 'basic' accounts. These are normally marketed to customers who only need to draw cash and want no other banking services. If you have a current account with any of these banks and it would be convenient for you to obtain cash at the post office, you can either apply for a 'basic' account to run alongside your normal account or take advantage of cashback at the shop counter. You can get up to £50 when you use your debit card subject to your spending £5 on goods to cover the cost of the machine rental and transaction cost.

If you have any questions just pop in and ask.

It's in your interest to check your savings

Following the recent reductions in base rate, interest rates on more than one third of all savings accounts now pay less than one per cent. It is worth checking the rate you are receiving on your savings including those with the Post Office and National Savings.

While National Savings have not been immune, Paul and Gail say they offer some unique products in particular:

Children's Bonus Bond - for children under 16 a tax-free fixed rate of return over five years plus end bonus, index-linked National Savings Certificates - guaranteed tax free real return after inflation for three or five years and Premium Savings Bonds - tax free prize draw with no risk to capital except inflation.

Details of all National Savings and Post Office savings products are on display in the post office.

Crunch time for speeding drivers

Sherston should know soon whether it will be a trap for speeding drivers.

The Community Road Safety Unit has been recording vehicle speeds on the B4040 through the village and is now analysing the results.

If they decide speeding is a serious enough problem, the police will train village volunteers to monitor traffic with speed guns.

'Volunteers will be asked to sign a document stating they'll adhere to certain codes of practice,' said WPC Lucy Deakin, Community Speed Watch co-ordinator.

'They'll be issued with reflective items and monitored for their first few checks to ensure they're doing them safely and correctly.'

The results of the monitoring will be sent to WPC Deakin for assessment and speeding drivers will get a letter notifying them of their speed.

If they are caught speeding again, they will get a second letter and their details will be added to a list of persistent speeders which will be monitored by the neighbourhood policing team and the road policing unit.

The speed gun scheme needs your help to be successful so, if you are one of the many who have complained about traffic speed, now is your chance to do something about it.

To get involved, call Eric Thacker on 01666 841344.
